After the success of the First International Symposium on Cancer in People with Intellectual Disability, in February 2014 Montpellier, France, where from various specialties met, we prepare the Second International Symposium on Cancer in People with Intellectual Disability which will take place October 10-12 2018 in Montpellier, France.

This symposium aims at favoring the meeting of professionals involved in this question. It is dedicated to oncologists, nurses, biologists, researchers, epidemiologists, professional caregivers, psychiatrists, psychologists, anthropologists and family members

This symposium is the only one at the international level. It is a unique opportunity to present advances and progresses on this poorly known subject. It is an opportunity to meet professionals from various countries and specialties, to open our mind to different approaches, a feature much appreciate at the 2014 symposium. It is the place for exchanging ideas and building collaborations.

The program includes the following topics linked with intellectual disability: Cancers in children, adults and old people, experience of cancer in people with intellectual disabilities, cancer epidemiology, organs at risk, genetics, cancer screening and prevention, cancer diagnosis, pain management, palliative care, communicating with persons with ID- communicating Tools, professional caregivers and cancer.

Call for abstracts will open on: March 1st 2018

Registration: April 1st 2018
