Inclusion – the simple thing, that is hard to do? Our common ground: Human Rights

Date: Wednesday, 15. June 2022, 17.00 h. CET, per Zoom

Speaker: Ines Boban

Translation: Croatian, French, German, Turkish and Ukrainian (to be confirmed)

Registration

In this session Ines Boban strengthens the human rights approach to an inclusive education – also by using an INDEX FOR INCLUSION. Some aspects may help to understand, why quite a simple idea sometimes is not easy to realise in cultures, policies and practices. But there are ways – always and everywhere, – where people build circles!

Biography

Ines Boban was lucky to be part of the integration and later inclusion movement in Germany since the beginning in the 1980s. She worked for eleven years in a comprehensive school in Hamburg and for many years at the Universities of Hamburg and Halle (Saale). Her main topic was inclusive education with the aspects of school development, the connection to democratic education and person centered planning. Together with her husband Andreas Hinz she adapted the Index for Inclusion for schools in German speaking countries. And very often she facilitates support-circles for persons with DS and their families and friends!

DOWN QUALITY OF LIFE SURVEY

Dear EDSA Members,

We are writing to ask for your participation in a new international research project. A team of international Down syndrome organizational leaders, led by clinicians from Harvard Medical School and Massachusetts General Hospital, created a survey to study quality of life in people with Down syndrome around the world.

European Down Syndrome Association has not shared your contact information with these researchers; instead, we have agreed to forward their message to you. Only if you choose to respond will the researchers have your contact information. We encourage you to participate in these important efforts.

The goal of this project is to understand the quality of life of people with Down syndrome in every country of the world. By gathering data from organizations that support people with Down syndrome, the researchers want to measure many aspects of life for people with Down syndrome across the lifespan. They also hope to identify specific reasons why some countries are doing better than others—including law and policy, environment, health system, and other factors.

We are asking a leader of each Down syndrome organization to complete one survey. We expect this person will need to consult with others about some factual questions. We may ask multiple organizations in each country to complete the survey; please answer for your organization alone. Once information is gathered, we anticipate that it will take about 30-40 minutes to complete the online survey.

Here the study: <https://redcap.partners.org/redcap/surveys/?s=NRPWHHH8HL>.
Here you will find a document with more information about the study.

The lead investigator, Dr. Brian Skotko, would be happy to answer any of your questions and can be contacted by email at BSKOTKO@mgh.harvard.edu or phone at +1-617-643-3196. We hope that with this study, we will be able to make life better for many people with Down syndrome around the world.

Thank you for all of your help,
Dan Kats, MD
Pediatrics Resident

European Solidarity Corps Guide 2022

Application procedure

For the decentralised activities managed by National Agencies please apply using the Erasmus+ and European Solidarity Corps page.

For the centralised activities managed by the European Education and Culture Executive Agency information about the application forms and selection procedure will be available on the EACEA's website and Funding & tender opportunities portal.

Let us try to explain the difference between the two main actions of the European Solidarity Corps: Volunteering activities and Solidarity projects

Volunteering activities:

Volunteering activities provide opportunities for young people to take part in solidarity activities and help address identified needs within local communities and contribute to overcoming important social challenges on the ground. Volunteering can take place in a country other than the country of residence of the participant (cross-border) or in the country of residence of the participant (in-country). The scope of volunteering projects is broad and covers a wide range of areas, such as environmental protection, climate change mitigation or greater social inclusion.

Volunteering activities can be done in groups or individually.

Solidarity projects:

A solidarity project should have an impact on the local community by addressing local issues, targeting specific groups (people with fewer opportunities facing situations that make it more difficult for them to be included in society) or developing local opportunities (particularly in communities in rural, isolated or marginalised areas) but also by involving different actors and developing new partnerships. While foreseeing an impact on the local community, proposals must have a clear European added value, addressing relevant priorities at EU level.

These projects must be developed and implemented by groups of at least 5 young participants in the European Solidarity Corps in order to address the main issues and challenges of their local community.

Deadlines for submission of applications specified below end at 12.00 (noon), Brussels time.

Volunteering Projects	(optional round) 4 October 2022
Solidarity Projects	4 October 2022
